Student Diversity “To learn is to belong, and to be belonged is to exist,” said Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. One of the most satisfying aspects of my role is the direct involvement I have with students and how it has strengthened my own identity as a person of color. Even more than my commitment to helping students succeed, I feel honored to work with such amazing people. My experience with the diversity issues and struggles faced by students of color has been as an African American and a member of a HBCU, but I have also been a part of a very diverse student body. I work with middle-class students, as well as high-achieving students. In my own community, I work with the students who attend the local public high school, as well as with the students from the local private high school. It is important for me to work with both students who are planning on being involved in STEM careers and students who are currently involved in STEM, as well as a mixture of both. It is important for me to emphasize that this is a part of my everyday life, as I continue to be invested in the campus community. I have worked in a diverse environment with high achieving, underachieving, and average students. I have a really great group of teaching assistants and peers who I can learn from. Having others to learn from can help me understand how to better help students, as well as learn from how they do it. My experiences have led me to learn how to be patient, be kind, and try to see things from someone else’s perspective. I try to understand and support the role and responsibilities of my colleagues. There is no shortage of work to do!Pages Friday, December 4, 2009 Sugar, Sugar It has been brought to my attention (by my son, of course) that I am totally and completely obsessed with sugar

Nov 27, 2013 You know what is the problem with Fm14 real time editor - very hard to find key codes in a game, but in "official" editor there is no that problem - you can find codes in any game mod you want. Please! If you have real time editor, please upload it here. Can i use it for an FC editor? (for example if i add player faces, would they show up on this editor? or not? . FM14 real-time editor is a program that will allow you to edit various aspects of your saved game. It's kind of a manual, you're limited in what you can do by what you have, but it's a hell of a lot more powerful than what other editors offer. FMRTE (FMRTE) is a program that will allow you to edit various aspects of your saved game. The program will allow you to edit player faces, names, numbers, club badges, kits, etc. If you like what you see, then you can request the code be added to a "canonical" release. 1. Get the FMRTE.2. Copy and paste it into your game's skin directory and you're good to go. . Nov 27, 2013 ?I'm looking for a real time editor for F.M 14, but in no way would I ever consider purchasing an expensive editor just to edit my game. I'm looking for a real time editor. As I'm sure you know, if there is an option to make all the skins in the game save games, then this option is likely be used by mods, and therefore there would be hundreds, possibly thousands of skins saved for the editor. If there was an option to make the names and numbers editable, people could add badges and kits and so on for the game. If there was an option to make the players faces editable then all of the names would be editable. If there is an option to create a new skin for the editor, then that would probably be the main selling point. There is currently a Fm14 RtEd available for FM 2014 which includes over 100 textures, players faces, shirts and logos, kits and custom badges. It's completely free and i'll provide a link to the file below. Please note that the program requires Windows XP Service Pack 3 or later. .
