A: I've been using Security Center for years, and found it to be the best multi-function firewall, identity protection, traffic monitoring, network analysis and anti-virus utility, and security policy management tool, on the Mac. It is a multi-function, complete security package that you won't find elsewhere. They have a short trial you can test drive for free before you purchase, but it can be purchased at a discount via the App Store if you like what you see. This is Security Center for Mac: This is the feature list and what you get with Security Center for Mac: Security Center is the only Mac OS X firewall that has network analysis. Network analysis allows you to monitor and record live network traffic as it travels through your firewall in order to see exactly what your network is doing, and who is doing it. Network analysis protects you by informing you when there is malicious traffic on your network so you can respond immediately. Security Center for Mac is the only Mac OS X firewall that protects your online identity. Advanced online security for Mac includes identity protection, which lets you control your personal online identity. By stopping fraud and other attacks before they can start, identity protection makes the web safer and more secure for you. Security Center for Mac is the only Mac OS X firewall that protects your privacy. Advanced privacy for Mac gives you control over the information that is available about you online. This includes both information about your online identity, and the information that you share about yourself with other sites. Security Center for Mac is the only Mac OS X firewall that protects your network from malware. Advanced malware protection for Mac includes protection from spam and phishing, as well as real-time malware detection and blockage of malware. Malware is malicious software designed to steal personal information from you or your network. This includes viruses, spyware, adware, Trojan horses and worms.
