FreeDownloadWhen the only thing you know how to do is to laugh, the world can seem like a very funny place. I like to sit and quietly witness the humor that arises between people, the moments of funny in the news, things my kids do or say, or the smallest of life's pleasures. I have a good laugh most days. But once in a while I need a good cry. That's when I turn to my friends. Monday, June 19, 2012 Two Things A few weekends ago, I had the chance to go to the zoo. I was there about 2 hours and it was wonderful! I tried to put the things that really meant something to me into my memory because these are the things that matter in life. I wish I could remember the animals, but what did I notice? I kept thinking about the importance of two things. They can be spelled backwards and backwards they go and then backwards again. I really like this. So for me, they are two things: being and love. To be is to do. To do is to be. To be and do are one. To be is to do and do is to be. Love is the first of these two things. There is no beginning or end to love, only an endless cycle of going back to the beginning. The Chixdiggitt.us Freedom Wall is here. This is where you can post your thoughts

When asked if they plan to read Dreams of Taniwha, Bronwyn Parry replied “I think the other girls might’ve read it already!” and Jessi Brooks replied “definitely!” which is exactly how we wanted it to be! The girls were joined by the ever popular writer, Hayley Jordan. Hayley did a great job of engaging the girls as they discussed themes and gave their opinions on the book. The girls thought it was fascinating to learn about the history of the South Island and the whakarewarewa (culture) of the Maori. They had a great time discussing the differences between the Maori and the Europeans. They also appreciated the opportunity to talk about the unusual, often times scary, and sometimes funny moments they've had as readers. They were all eager to share their stories of their most memorable moments as a reader. Be sure to tune into the Maori MRT on SBS TV at 7.30pm on Sunday 29th August for our live broadcast.

Complex refractive-index changes at the glass-air interface as revealed by an index-contrast method. We discuss a method for the determination of the real refractive index of the glass substrate of a photonic crystal at the air-glass interface. The method is based on the transmission of a spectrally narrow probe beam through the glass sample and detection of the beam scattered from the glass-air interface. Experimental data are compared with numerical simulations performed using the rigorous coupled-wave analysis method. So what does the buying advice from the U.S. trade deficit say about the state of the global economy? Nothing. Not unless you're a Washington talking head on the national news circuit. The media is mostly uninformed about the trade picture and parrots the stock story without even bothering to check it out. The U.S. trade deficit in January was the fourth worst since the financial crisis started in 2008, and U.S. exports were down in every month except for September last year. January was also the worst since July 2009, when exports were down 2.9 percent.
